

Caramel FRANKFURT

2014

Dear Partners,

The traditional teaching methods that we still know today were mainly developed during the 1950's in the context of the industrial revolution. At the time, they were established with the aim of forging good civil servants and good workers. But the world continues to change and our future lies today in the capacities of future generations to build a different world. As the world evolves, the way we educate and teach our children must evolve too. Today, with one "click", all the necessary information is available to anyone anywhere. But we still have to teach our children how to use and manage all this information. So they need to learn... how to learn!

Scientific research has demonstrated that the traditional learning methods have tremendous flaws and can even be wrong at times. Indeed according to neuroscience studies, the best learning methods are the ones based on fun activities and strong participation of the child. Furthermore, teachers are strongly recommended to develop creative approaches and to personalise their assessments. It's important to avoid cultivating errors as a synonym of failure! Some countries have already implemented these new learning methods in their innovating teaching programs. And the first results have turned out to be very promising!

We, at Caramel Editions, have also understood this is a new teaching era. Although from the onset we have always put forward the fun dimension in our books, even in the most educational ones, we continue to reassess ourselves and to improve our books according to this specific research. With Caramel, learning becomes a real pleasure for children. In our books we always endeavour to develop their sense of creativity even in our activity and colouring series! "Educational", "interactivity", "pleasure" and "creativity" have always been our most important keywords! Thanks to Caramel, every child has the opportunity to learn at their own pace, with the most adapted methods!

The Caramel Management

Caramel remains fully committed to its core values with a constant pursuit of fulfilling and preserving its « environmental » and « ethical » code of conduct.

The Fairies' Academy

From the age of five, all little girls in the Fairy Kingdom attend classes at the Golden Wand Academy, where they learn how to fly, make dewdrops, and use their magic wands; in short, everything they need know to become top-notch fairies.

One morning, the teacher announces:
"Right, children, today we are going to practice casting spells! Melissa, please turn this crayon into an insect!"
The little fairy racks her brain, trying to remember the spell.
"Transform... transform... transform!"

Oh, dear, she has cast the wrong spell! Poof!
It is not the crayon but Miss Petronella that begins to shrink, growing smaller and smaller until she is almost invisible – and finally, is replaced by a tiny, jumping cricket! Terrified, the little fairies begin to sob.
"Melissa, what have you done?" cries Sidella.
"The next morning, Miss Petronella does not come to class. It will take a long time – and many magic potions – for her to reverse this particular spell..."

Princesses, Fairies, Witches and Pirates: these popular themes always capture the imagination of all children! This new collection features wonderful stories not quite like any other. Combining magic, adventure and humour, they are surprising and full of originality. Accompanied by beautiful illustrations, discover this 3 titles made of dreams and pleasures! Tortoise Rock

Mary-Louise is over the moon; pirate school has finished for the summer, and her cousin Tommy is about to arrive. A bell rings out across the harbour; the mid-day ship has docked.
"Mary-Louise, hurry up!"
"Please, Mum, call me Gigi," protests the little girl, adjusting her three-pointed pirate's hat.
Down on the quay, Gigi shows her arms around Tommy, while her little dog Lookout jumps up and down, yapping excitedly.
"Let's go and play on the beach!"
By the water, Lookout runs about chasing crabs. Suddenly, as he is digging in the sand, he uncovers a scroll covered in drawings.
"Wow, a treasure map!"

cries Gigi.
"Look, there is a cross by that rock, the one that looks like a crouching cat," says Tommy.
"It looks more like a tortoise to me," says Gigi.
"No, no, it's a cat..."
Their squabbling catches Captain Gangplank's attention, and his eye falls on the map Gigi is holding.
"Ho, ho, he," he chuckles, "I think my luck has finally turned!"

The Maharani of Jaipur

During the last century, in the Indian province of Rajasthan, Deva fell in love with the maharaja of Jaipur. However, she was not willing to give up her freedom to become a princess – and so she cut off her long hair the day before the wedding!
"What have you done, Deva?" asked her prince.
"Now you cannot wear flowers in your hair!"
Never mind the flowers,

Deva preferred her hair short!

The next day, when the maharaja gave her a married woman's sari to wear, Deva threw it into a chest... and jumped into her tower.
"I'd like to go into town," she announced.
"No problem, I will saddle an elephant for you."
"But why not a tortoise? Oh – no, it would take too long!"
In the end, she took neither an elephant nor a tortoise – instead, she learned to drive her husband's car.
